

Monumental Methodist Church, Portsmouth, Virginia
Founded 1772

Monumental Methodist Church

at Dinwiddie and Queen Sts., Portsmouth, Virginia, was founded 1772 by Robert Williams, the first Methodist preacher in Virginia, in the home of Isaac Luke, the first Methodist official in the State. In the Church may be seen replicas of previous buildings — "South Street Meeting House" (1775), "Glasgow Street Church" (1792), "Dinwiddie Street Church" (1831). The last was burned during the Civil War, rebuilt on the same site and the name changed to Monumental in 1873. In spite of war, plague and fire the history of the Church is unbroken from the beginning. It is today one of the great churches of its city and its denomination.
